

WHO DO YOU THINK YOU ARE?

When was the last time you encountered “the demon of entitlement” in your life? How did it affect your view of God?

Are you currently struggling with bitterness and resentment as a result of entitlement? Have you brought those struggles to the Lord? Why or why not?

What do you think could change about your current life at the realization that everything you have is a gift?

To cultivate humility, we must regularly engage in praise and adoration. What is one gift in your life that you can thank the Lord for today?
